precaution, a mere defensive; and differentiates us from you, ladies, i tion of sex and of education: you i you are taught to say no. We, on saying yes, even when we should no^ of our difference in conduct. We a the same sort in life.

If I were starting at night in a ch ney, to my great astonishment t be, waiting in it ready dressed, alt arranged that she should go. — B come! I am going too far; it would — Not in the least, answered Jose start at once. — Well, I 'm quite r< a whole paraphernalia, — Not at everything. — And generally I hac

After all said and done, Joseph happiness, and was always his te: and in all events showing submissi self-sacrifice. And I have always tender affection and keen gratitud

Madame (Mere) was too parsin lous. I even offered her a large moi she would disburse it. She was quii on condition she could keep it. In i